Rohini is generally better in most cases on the basis of the Census figures but 5 years have elapsed since the last Census was taken and it is quite possible that the population has increased during the period & it will be another 5 years if we are to wait for the next Census figures; and we have already proposed on intention to confer this with a Town Municipal and no objections are said to have been received. The population is now said to be more than 50000/- and there is good revenue also & these circumstances, the proposal may finally be approved
